Participant Numbers: Onsite up to 12, Online up to 100

Participants: any level within the organization*

Our seminars are all modular by design — meaning that they are highly customizable to suit your exact needs. We partner closely with you to ensure we completely understand your desired outcomes. We invest the time to ensure we understand your organization and tailor the pre-work, seminar, and post-work to get you the results you want.

In today's fast-moving, technologically-driven world, the need for exemplary presentation and facilitation skills are of paramount importance. People make decisions fast and therefore the ability of being able to get your point across, draw people into your vision, and give clarity of direction is an art as well as a science.

This seminar is ideal for anyone who needs to communicate effectively in today's working world. Specifically this program can significantly help those in sales-based roles; staff working within development and alumni-relations at higher education and in fact, anyone that needs the support of others to get things done.

Participants will understand the vital importance of body language, tone, and the choice of words when conveying their message. Tools that work in the real world will be practiced and applied to assist with planning and structuring, as well as, opening and closing presentations. Participants will uncover proven best methods to run a meeting effectively and will practice how to positively influence a meeting that isn't being run by their boss, peer or colleague.

Through hands-on activities, role-play and real-world examples of best practices, Participants are inspired to implement what they've learned. This will provide immediate benefits to themselves and their organizations.
